Forget the noise, fumes, and discomfort of using a jackhammer. Ecobust is a new, environmentally friendly way to deal with rock and concrete demolition. When combined with water, the non-toxic powdered mixture of natural ingredients expands to exert thousands of pounds of pressure on rock and concrete. Users simply drill into the stone they're working with, pour in the mixture, and give it time to cure. Within 24 hours, Ecobust will break the rock into manageable pieces to be removed from the site. Four varieties of Ecobust are available to guarantee performance based on job size and the core temperature of the rock. See the product in action on the Ecobust website. Ecobust.
